Special Cablegram to the Post Dispatch.

LONDON, April 9.—It is no ion are possible to overlook the fact that the war scare is reviving. For some days past the foreign correspondents have been reporting occurrences and opinions, unimportant separately, but which, taken together, are creating fresh alarm here. The expulsion of Antoine, the alarm here. The expulsion of Antoine, the tearing up of the Imperial flag by Alsatian retearing up of the Imperial flag by Alsatian re-cruits and the imprisonment of French sympa-thizers has caused a strong feeling. The Paris correspondent of the Standard felegraphs this morning that the fear in well-informed quar-ters there, is that Bismarck having made sure that Russia cannot move for the present, thinks it better for Germany to fight now than later. Attention is drawn to this condition of of affairs by the fact that the Devempert dock-yard authorities received orders that three six fastest and most power-torpedo cruisers now building the Government, are to be got ready for sea with all dispatch, without waiting for the final trials of their machinery. It is freely stated in Devonport that this order has been given in consequence of the unsatisfactory and uncertain aspect of foreign affairs, ENGLISH POLITICS. In English polities there is still little to men-tion beyond the extension of the anti-coercion campaign. Large numbers of members have left town, most of them having paired until the end of next week. Churchili will address several meetings in support of coercion. Hartington will also speak is public. Gladstone's next manifesto will take the form of a speech at the dinner of the Eighty Club on the 18th inst. The Morning Post actually demands, this morning, that Monday's meeting at Hyde Park be suppressed. LONDON, April 9.—The anti-coercion meeting to be held in Hyde Park Monday promises to be the biggest out-door political ever held in London. GLADSTONE'S MANIFESTO.

Mr. Gladstone to-day issued to the miners in the north of Great Britain, a ma-ority of whom are enthusiastic followers of him, the following letter which amounts to a manifesto: "I cannot refrain from calling your attention to the meet Monday, and to which I understand tens of thousands of the workingmen of London intend generously to devote their holiday. If ever there was a time when it was to the interest of the English workingman to bethink mself, this is the time. It is the first time when a coercion bill, if passed, is to be passed by England's vote alone against the voices of Scotland, Ireland and Wales. It is the first time when such a bill will have been passed under the sanction of the householders at large, who were never enfranchised before the last elections, in 1885 and 1886. It is the first time coercion has been proposed without any attempt by the Ministry to show what we know they cannot show—a state of exceptional and flagrant or growing crime. If England is to coerce Ireland for crime, Ireland can reply that relatively to opulation she has less crime than England. population she has less crime than England.
In my opinion the rejection of the bill is even more needed by England than by Ireland.
For Ireland it is a question of suffering and she knows how to suffer.
For England it is a question of and dishonor - and to away shame and dishonor is the first busines of a great nation. In 1876 a meeting of London workingmen first gave effectual force to the movement for Bulgaria which brought about the election of 1880. May the meeting of Mon day next ring the death-knell of the worst, the most insulting and the most causeless coer-cion bill ever submitted to Parliament."

AN AMICABLE SETTLEMENT PROBABLE.

SANTIAGO, De Cubs. April 9.—News has been roceived from Hayti to the effect that an amicable settlement of the British claims may be expected. The Haytian Assembly has had two special sittings, one public and one secret, to consider the demand made by Mr. Hill, the British special agent now in Hayti. He wishes to have the principle admitted. President Salomon declined taking action until he obtained an expression of opinion from the Assembly. To admit the principle is to acknowledge the English claim of $1,000,000. The HIGHLY ALARMING RUMORS The highly alarming rumors that have reached this city from Hayti seem to be baseless, as the United States steamer Yantic left there three days ago for this port and the Haytian man of war Des-salines, Capt. Capt Dooper stated positively that the run a revolutionary movement there and anothe less; that perfect peace and quies reigned in Port-au-Prince, and that he (Capt. Cooper) had left his family there Commissioner on board, is still at Port-au Prince. Mr. Hill is expected here fortnight. The general opinion is that the matter will be amicably settled.

A SERIOUS GRIEVANCE.

LONDON, April 9.—The Times, commenting on the appeal of the members of the New-foundland Legislature for compensation for losses sustained by the disallowance of the bil regulating the export of bait, says the suffering complained of in New Foundland is a real and serious grievance which might have been already removed but for the Colonial Office, which, the paper declares, has been dilatory, inconsiderate and not alto-gether straightforward. The Government ought, the Times adds, immediately either on the bill or suggest some acceptable alternative.

Commission Paying.

CHICAGO, April 9. - With respect to the conrunk lines upon the question of paying com missions and which has caused the Eastern roads to turn the tickets of the Western roads "to the wail" the manager of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway declared to-day the position that line has assumed and expects to maintain. make its own rules and have them respected. The Northwestern concedes that right to other lines and expects that they will concede it to them. The Northwestern managers also declare that they are still paying commissions, but only to regular ticket agents, but contend that they do not pay excessive commissions. In further explaining the attitude of the road, the managers urge that the continuance or discontinuance of paying commissions is not now a question of sufficient importance to warrant the present controversy.

A Local View of It.

General Passenger Agent Chandler said to-day that no steps had been taken by the Wabash to lift the boycott, although they had re-ceived several circulars urging them to sign ceived several circulars urging them to sign the papers and send them on. He said that if the rule was enforced against roads in other Western cities St. Louis would be all right, because it happens that if passengers have to stop and buy their tickets West, they could do it cheaper and better in St. Louis than anywhere else. He thinks the trunk lines will have to recede from their po-sition as it is not tenable.

APPLY THE KNIFE.

A Timely Comment on Interstate Comm

NEW YORK, April 9.-The World this morn ing says: The rapidly increasing number of petitions presented to the Interstate Com-merce Commission for suspensions of the operation of the long and short haul clause of the railroad law is remarkable. The principle of that provision must be pressed home now or an inextricable confusion will follow of that provision must be pressed home now or an inextricable confusion will follow and the law in this respect, at least, prove worthless. The situation proves conclusively that if discrimination between places is wrong the long and short-haul clause was much needed, for the discrimination was widely practiced. A representative case is supplied by Boston petitioners. They make an open and straightforward request that they may continue to be discriminated in favor of in order that they can retain an export and import business, which unider a just schedule of charges would go to another port. Their best argument is that they will lose what naturally belongs to somebody eise if the law is enforced. Here is the gist of the whole question. If the law is properly administered the knife must cut painfully in many places, and complaint and wailing will arise accordingly. If there were only a neutralizing cry of rejoicing on the part of those who were recovering their rights, a fairer impression would be conveyed of the justice of the law. But the complaints in such cases are always the louder, and it requires some strength of mind to hold firmly to the right view while the noise is going on. The responsibility for doing this rests upon the Commission. The principle they are to adhere to is that it is the business of the railroads to charge fairly in proportion to the service performed, and let the trade equilibrium establish itself without trying to influence it in either this city or that. If exceptions dan wisely be made it must be for extraordinary and rare causes. Congress has made the present the appointed time for the application of the law. Let it be applied, the uproar notwithstanding.

A BIG BAILBOAD DEAL.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9 .- One of the Terminal Syndicate are negotiating for the pur-chase of the Georgia Central of Georgia and the Florida Raliway & Navigation Company's system of Florida roads. No member of the Richmond & West Point Terminal Syndicate is accessible here, but for the past few days there has been a significant gathering of leading railroad men interested in these lines at Savannah. Among them were John C. Calhoun of New Tork, who took a leading part in the Alexander scoop of the Georgia Central last January; also his brother, Patrick Calhoun of Atlants; C. H. Phinizy and Urish B. Harrold, directors of the Central, and Isaac L. Rice of New York; a large holder of Central stook and said also to be interested in Richmond Terminal. The price paid for the Florida road is said to be $10,000 per mile. There are $50 miles in the system. These rumors are further substantiated by the face that Austin Corbin, who is said to be interested in the Richmond Terminal Syndicate, was recently here and went over the entire line of the system in company with Receiver Duval. Mr. Duval was seen yeaterday and asked sbout the reported sale. He said he knew nothing of the sale, but frankly admitted that such a deal could happen without his knowledge, though not likely to. He said there had been efforts here-tofore to purchase his road by other systems, but they would not pay enough. He did not think the road could be purchased the Florida Railway & Navigation Con tictor to purchase his road by other syst-but they would not pay enough. He not think the road could be purch for $10,000 per mile. He said, however, the Florida system would be organized be next season, but most likely by the roads' bondholders. The Richmond & West I Terminal now owns the East Tennessee, ginia & Georgia, and if it has captured florida system, will have a direct line Florida with the exception of a seventy gap between Jesup, Ga., and the nearest nection with the Florida system. Rumor this deal have created the greatest inte among railroad men of the Southeast.

THE BRIDGE RATES,

The Merchants and Manufacturers Protesting Against the New Arbitrary.

The new passenger rates fixed by the Bridge Company under the interstate commerce law are apt to meet with a strong protest from the merchants of St. Louis. Mr. J. J. Holmer, for the purpose of having a meeting of the association called for Tuesday afternoon next at 40 clook to protest arginst the new arbitrary. These gentlemen say that the local rates are increased from 20 to 100 per cent and heavy burden is thus laid on all who have to use the bridge. The controversy relating to the Twenty-firth Ward seat in the House of Delegates, took legal shape shortly before noon to-day, when Messrs. Berry & Ritchie, in behalf of Wm.Hammerstein, presented in Court to Judge compel Recorder of Voters Henry W. Williams and the Judges E. Cronin and Theodore Louis Grund's Little Scheme.

The Republicans have no sooner won a great City Central Committee give way to an itching desire to place a "practical" politician in charge of the executive body of the party, and to that end the cry has gone forth for Louis Grund for Chairman of the Republican Central Committee. A plan has been perfected whereby Grund will be elected a member of the committee. Chairman Delano's resignation will be accepted and Grund will be placed in Delano's position as chairman. As Delano is apparently very anxious to get out of the committee, Mr. Grund's little plan for his own advancement is on its face very innocent, but unfortunately for Mr. Grund and some of his friends, it has developed in the past two days that Grund's elevation has for its ultimate object the nomination of ex-Mayor W. L. Ewing for mayor two years hence. This discovery has raised the old Filley wing of the party to a keen sense of their danger and it looks now very much as it a fight will be made on Grund and Ewing for the control of the committee in the interest of the anti-Ewing element in the party, who have selected as their standard-bearer Mrs. Geo. W. Parker. Should Ewing insist upon pressing to the front on Grund's shoulders the question of "harmony" will again be the great subject for discussion at all Republican meetings, and a bitter fight will be inaugurated by both sides. ELECTION FRAUDS.

SHERIFF O'CONNOR.

Deputy Recorder John J. Prendergast Goes to Trial Before a Jury This Morning_The Court Decides That the Govern-ment May Offer Expert Testimony, Leave ing Little Room for Hope for the Defendants-Egan Moves the Court for a New Trial—How the Registry Books Were Forged in the Third Ward.

After deliberating for four hours, the jury in the case of Deputy Sheriff Jos. O'Connor, who was tried yesterday, failed to agree and was discharged by Judge Thayer in the United principally the result of the Court's instruc-tions. The indictment charged O'Connor with in the index of twenty-two persons. The last were admitted by the defendant. He went to Blong's saloon on Morgan and Jefferson avenue on the night September 15, 1886. There he signed a number of names at the request of Paddy Golden was said he did not know at the time what the book was, and had not seen the oath or the words "Registry of Election" at the top of the pages on which he made the fictitions entries. This was the case. The plea in defense was ignorance. Mr. Dyer for the Government argued that the plea was prepos-terous. O Compor had been for several years the City Attorney's clerk, in which position his judgment on offenses against the law was exercised daily. Altogether he had been in ofcial position for six years, active in every election, as he had testified. He thought it O'Connor was ignorant of what he was doing. dresses, but submitted the case, when Judge tury, and indeed the lawyers within the bar ambled. The Court in the early part stumbled. The Court in the early part of the instructions was understood to order that if the testimony had not established the fact that the defendant had gone before a registering officer and to him impersonated the bersons charged in the indictment he was not guilty of the offense for which he was tried. Later he was understood by many to enlarge on these views and to charge that the false registration on the official book constituted an offense as charged. With these mixed views the jury retired shortly before 4 o'clock leaving a variously impressed andience to await their return. At 5 o'clock the jury asked if the official registration book was evidence of the presence of the officer charged with its reciping. The Court answered at length that all the evidence must be applied to the questions arising. A ballot was taken, resulting in a vote of 10 for conviction and 2 for acquittal. The jurors were unable to agree upon a verdict under the instructions as they understood them, and stated that there was no prospect of an agreement. At 8 o'clock they were discharged by Judge Thayer.

Mow THE JURY STOOD.

A few moments after the O'Connor jury retired, a ballot showed that eleven of the jurors favored conviction, notwithstanding the impressions received from the opening of the charge. James F. Allen of Scott county was the only juror who opposed conviction. The others tried to convince him, but he said he accepted O'Connor's statements and would not yield a single point. Owing to his position, taken by the single jury man and obstinately maintained, no verdict could be tagreed upon. of the instructions was understood

Mr. W. C. Marsball made the argument for a new trial in the case of Deputy Recorder Peter J. Egan. He contended that the defendant's interests had been prejudiced by the consoildation of the two indictments. They were conflicting, but the consolidation had the effect of introducing proof which, had either of the repugnant charges been withdrawn, would not be admissible under the remaining indictment. In the mass of testimony offered it was but natural that the jury did not make the distinction between the testimony introduced in support of one charge and that introduced introduced in support of the other, but when instructed to acquit on the first indictment they applied all the testimony to the remaining indictment. He also contended that the evidence did not prove that the Tenth Ward was in the Ninth Congressional District. The Government stated that all the points had already been passed on, and they accordingly would not make an argument. Judge Brewer passed the questions down until 2 p. m. J. Egan. He contended that the defendant's Deputy Recorder Prendergast on Trial. Shortly before noon John J. Prendergast the United States Circuit Court, on a charge of falsely entering thirty-three names and addresses in the registration books of his ward. Mr. James W. Huff appeared as counsel for the defendant. A slight delay was caused by the absence of Recorder Williams, ex-Recorder Hobitzelle and ex-Deputy Recorder Bull, who had been excused. Mr. Williams appeared when notified by telephone and identified the official oath book to which Prendergast had affixed his signature on August 31, 1886. Deputy Recorder Bull then took the stand and identified the the Registration Books A and B of the Third Ward.

The Government then called Tillman Tutz to the Registration Books A and B of the Third Ward.

The Government then called Tillman Tutz to the witness stand. He testified that he now lived at No. 1030 Morrison avenue, but that he formerly lived at 829 Gratiot street. The witness was shown the registration book of the Third Ward for last September, in which the registration of Tillman Tutz, 829 Gratiot street appeared. Witness stated that he had not written the entry or authorized anybody else to register for him. He was then cross-examined, when the facts were elicited that the witness never had applied to any one for registration and never voted at any other person of the name lived at the address given in the book, he said the only other person bearing his name was his nephew, a 6-year-old boy.

George Krapp of No. 700 South Third bearing his name was his heplace, a crystal obloy.

George Krapp of No. 700 South Third street was the next witness sworn. He said that he kept a boarding-house and that no man of the name of John Rogers lived at his house for any length of time. He thought it possible that a man of that name might have lived there for a day or two last September, but he could not remember any such person. The registration appeared on the books.

might have lived there for a day or two last Soptember, but he could not remember any such person. The registration appeared on the books.

Wm. Wells, who lives at No. 1530 South Broadway, was caled next. He testified that he kniew the defendant and had known him for twelve years. The witness was shown a registration in the name of William Wells, 736 South Third street. He testified that he had not written in the book. He had never appeared before Prendergast to take the oath of registration, accylad he ever authorized any person to register in his name. He said he also knew Archie Merrell, who lived at No. 736 South Third street. The place was a boardinghouse, but the witness had never lived there. Merrell was acquainted with Prendergast, but witness could not state how intimately.

Archie Merrell and Adolph Kaub, from whose addresses registrations appeared in the book, were yeak, called but, failed to answer. District Attorney Bashaw-then asked for attachments for the wissing witnesses. The Ceurt ordered the writs to issue to the Marshal.

Charles Forsee, a colored man living at No. 230 Cedar street, was called. He swore that he had lived at that number since the first day of January, 1886, and knew all the occupants of the house. No man named Thos. Collins, who appeared on Prendergast's book as registered from No. 230 Cedar street, had lived at that number in the time designated in the indictment. Mr. Huff, attorney for the defendant, here raised the point that one of the registration books showed no date, and he accordingly asked that all testimony on these points be excluded, as the book did not prove the anties wire made on the date charged in the indictment. The Odurt then examined the institute of the page on which the Recorder for the bindictment of the registrations on the page on which the Recorder for Ess finished, without making a new date. The Govarnment theat suggested, without much confidence however, that the fact that it was the defendant's handwriting could be established by the jury's comparison

Judge Thayer then said that since the previous rulings on the subject of expert testimony the court had more fully investigated the points raised and was of the opinion that if any record had been introduced into the case for a specific purpose the Government had a right to use the handwriting appearing on it as a standard for comparison with any other writing supposed to be the defendant's and sought to be introduced without raising any collateral issue. This decision was welcome to the Government, which has been working against odds under the previous decisions, as no testimony could be introduced to prove the defendant's handwriting in the books. This leaves but little hope for Prendergast, as the Government decided to call Mr. Messenberg teller of the Boatman's Bank to fix on Prendergast the various entries in the registration book after which the prosecution expects to prove that these names were fictitious.

Henry Boecher, a journeyman tailor, living at 731 South Broadway, testified that he has occupied the whole house at rhat number for seven years and that no such person as alfred Reil had lived there. Reil appeared on the books as registered from Boecher's residence.

Wm. Schwachelm then took the stand and swore that the registration in his name was made by some unauthorized person. At 12:30 the court took a recess until 2 p. m.

THE AFTIERNON SESSION.

This afternoon Judge Brewer announced that a decision on the motion for a new trial in the case of Peter J. Egan, who is under conviction for registering fictitious names and addresses, would not be given until next Monday week. Judge Brewer leaves tonight for Dubnue, but Judge Thayer will proceed with matters pertaining to the election frauds.

When the Prendergast case was resumed F. W. Wieschahn, the writing expert, testified that thirty of the names given in the indictment were written by the defendant on the registration books. T closely written legal cap, Many of the provisions of the will can not be made public, as Miss Wolfe so desired. Many bequests personally. In the will the letters are merely referred to in the clauses, with the request to deliver to the persons addressed. The date of this will is February 14, 1884. The preamble shows the striking religious feeling and characteristics of the deceased. It is as follows:

"It catherine Lorillard Wolfe, of the city of New York, being thankful to the God of my life for unnumbered mercles, spiritual and temporal, which have been vouchasfed to me, deeply sensible also of the uncertain measure of my days and in humble dependence on the redeeming love of a cruclified and risen Lord, do commend my soul to his holy seeping in the hope of a glorious resurrection, and now recognizing it as a duty to make proper disposition of the worldly estate with which I have been blessed, I do hereby make and publish my last will and testament."

Then follow the bequests. The pew in Grace Church, also the one in St. Paul's, are given to David Wolfe Bishop, together with the furniture and other articles. To Louis K. Lorillard is given the house at Newport, R. I. The bust of Henry P. Potter, which was presented to Miss Wolfe, goes to the trustees of Grace Church. The valuable collection of paintings to the Metropolitan Museum of Art as aiready stated, and to the executors, in private, gifts are made with instructions what to do in regard to carrying out their trust. To D. W. Bishop and L. K. Lorillard is given each the sum of $200,000. Many thousands of dollars are bequeathed privately to various charities and persons. The most important clause is to be found in the following codicil:

"In do give and bequeath the sum of $350,000 to the rector, wardens and vestrymen of Grace Church in the City of New York, in their corporate capacity, to be had and held by them and their successors upon trust, to keep the same safely invested, and receive the income thereof and apply the same to maintenance, improvement an

He lives in a small house and never goes of evening. No matter what occurs he will stay at home. He has two children there and his mother. When a man is a good son it goes a long way to make the inference that he is a good man. His kindness as a son was demonstrated when his brother died. Garland got the news that his brother was not only sick, but dead. He say to his mother: "Mother, I have got to had news. Do you think you the news. Do you think you hear it?" "Yes," said she, "I think I can if you it?" "Yes," said she, "I think I can, if you could hear it. Is it news that is bad to you, Augustus?" "Yes, mother, it is bad for me and bad for you, too." She thought it must refer to his Pan-Electric Telephone scandal. A good deal had been said about it in the paper, and the mother thought that the President had perhaps removed him. So, with this idea in her mind she said: "Tell me what it is. I gan stand it." "Mother," said he, "I have no brother and you have only one sand." His mind had been running in a different different too, not thinking about the political question. She sat like one suddenly stricken into stone.

It really looks as if John Sharman, arms It really looks as if John Sharman, among other enterprises toward the Presidency, was making a distinct bid for the mugwump voic. A significant feature of his recent action is in his readiness to bury the sectional issue. There never was a better chance of making such capital as Blaine covats than in it, Sherman's Alabama hotel experience. Test he passes it by as of no importance, and gives the cold shoulder to the bloody shirt in every way, Mr. Sherman evidently attaches importance to the intelligent patriotic as well as to the partisan vote of next year. He is wise in accounty yet, as we have before remarked, he is pushing his programme of extravagant expenditure too hard to satisfy the thinking men, whose support would naturally be his, as against candidates of the Blaine stamp.

A serious freight wreck occurred near the Relay Depot in East St. Louis shortly before noon to-day. Engine No. 1 of the Bridge & Tunnel Company was drawing a long train of "empties" down the bridge approach and was going at a good rate of speed. The switch just above the tower had been turned to allow the train to pass into the yards on the west side of the depot, but just as the engine struck the switch the forward wheels imped the track. Engineer Harry Limes reversed the throttle, and Fireman John Graham jumped from the cab. After reversing the throttle valve Limes remained at his post, and when the engine and reached a point about fifty feet clast of the tower it was overturned, and Limes was buried underneath the debris. Five of the cars were piled up on top of the engine, and the wreck covered all the tracks leading to the approach from the west side of the depot. Fortunately the side of the cab did not give way, and Limes was aken out from his perilous position almost unhurt. His escape from serious injuries was almost miraculous; even he himself being unable to explain it. The roar of the escaping steam could be heard for blocks away, and in a few minutes after the accident there was a crowd of fully five hundred people on the scene. The steam was so dense that for two minutes or more the wreck could not even be distinguished, and every one gave up the engineer and fireman for lost. When the supply of steam had about exhausted itself Limes was found and appeared to be none the worse for what he had passed through. The two first cars were smashed into splinters, the third and fourth badly wrecked and the fifth was planted squarely on top of the prostrate engine, reaching nearly to the height of the electric light pole near the Tower. The engine is supposed to be almost a total wreck, and on this calculation the damages will be about $15,000. The steam had scarcely all escaped when a force of about fifty men was put to work to clear away the debris. Considerable trouble will be experienced in getting the engine up, but the yardmaster expressed himself as confident of having the tracks cleared before night. Traffic over the bridge was entirely suspended this afternoon. and was going at a good rate of speed. The switch just above the tower had been turned Importing a Wife.

From the Des Moines Register.

From the Des Moines Register.

'Talk about your peculiar letters," said an accommodating railroad man to a Register scribe yesterday, 'but I have just been writing one of the funniest in its way you ever read. I thought I had been through the mill in this regard, but you may be sure I was stumped to-day when a good looking young Irishman came to me and said, 'I want you to get me a wife.' I was just explaining that wives were out of my line, when he interrupted by saying, 'I want you to write for me to the old country.' Of course I consented, the following being a copy of the epistle he dictated, and if you don't agree with me as to its being peculiar why you have no sense of the ludicrous, that's all." The letter, minus names and dates, read as follows:

letter, minus names and dates, read as follows:

Very Rev. Father—Herewith please find to your order one sale bill of exchange on Poor Bank of Ireland, Dublin. for £2 6d., which is for the use of the following person as expense money: I wish you to go to the work-house and arrange to send me an able-bodied woman; she must not be over 30 years of age, and must have one child not over 4 years old; either sex will do. The woman must be able to read and write. Have her procure a double spelling book and bring with her. Tell her to come at once, and that she will come to a good home, and to write me when she starts. I will arrange with the railroad agent here to direct her to my house when she arrives. I have prepaid her passage from Queenstown to this place. She will get the ticket from ——— at Queenstown. Your most obedient servant.

The Duke of Cornwall's Income.

The Duke of Cornwall's Income.

From the Lendon Figaro.

The Prince of Wales in his capacity of Duke of Cornwall has had a considerably better year than the Queen in her capacity of Duchess of Lancaster. The Queen, as I mentioned a fortnight ago, was able to draw during 1886 only £50,000 for her private use from her Duchy revenues, whereas the heir apparent has had no less than £60,563 3s 3d placed to his bankers' credit in the shape of the net profits of his valuable Cornish property. Things are looking up in the mining country. Arrears of rent, which were considerably over £13,000 at the beginning of 1886, barely exceeded £10,000 at its close, while the royalties due on mining property had been all paid up, with the exception of some £600 or £700.

wheat from many sections of the winter wheat beit Missouri, Kansas (especially) and Illinois all contributing these unfavorable advices, besides some other States. Any number of hair-raising telegrams and letters came in. Not alone was damage by dry weather reported in Southern Kansas, but the air was said to be full of chinch bugs; farmers were plowing up wheat in Johnson County, Kansas, and Lafayette County, Missouri; other sections merely noted injury or fears of injury to the crops. These dry weather conditions may change within twenty-four hours, and predictions now by the signal service are for rains in the Northwest, Wisconsin, Michigan and Nebrasks. California has had fine rains everywhere and still storming. The crop is looking well except in a few southern counties, which may yet be improved. Oregon promises a very large crop. Mr. North Storms (by the way, a name singularly appropriate for a crop miner) of Carmi, Ill., writes in that while wheat appears to look well it has been seriously damaged. Frank Craycroft, the Southwest Missouri and the Kansas manager of the McCormick Harvester Company, wrote Samuel & Lonergan, in answer to their inquiries, "Wheat is yet all right, but I don't like this dry weather. We are not suffering much yet, but if it continues the result will be serious. There is a large acreage of oats sown and farmers are well along with their work. With rains soon we are all right; without it we are in bad shape."—A stand will be errected in the new grain pit for the official reporter, Similar to the one on the Chicago board.—No cables were received to day, nor will there be next Monday as European markets are observing the Easter holidays.—A telegram to Fath, Ewald & Co. read: "Cotton is dangerous for the short side. Invisible, or plantation cotton, yet to come into sight is as small as generally believed and will made the small visible stocks of America practically all that is left of the crop. We firmly believe considerable advance inevitable.—Hutchinson was buying ribs in Chicago to-day, taking all the options beyond May.—Estimates on the next visible supply are for 1,500,000 decrease in wheat and 2,000,000 increase in corn.—Harker & Pritchard's Merchanta' Exchange Price Current speaks of the wool market as follows: "The numerous inquiries received by our merchants regarding the outlook for the new clip show the wide-spread interest taken in St. Louis as a market, and indicate that the approaching season will far surpass the highly creditable records of the two preceding years. The interstate commerce bill will directly contribute to this effect. The discriminating through rates that have heretofore operated in favor of Eastern markets have been removed, while the rate from St. Louis to the Eastern factories has been materially reduced from last year, which is a direct benefit to the patrons of this market. Regarding the rulling opening prices, it is impossible to speak with any certainty in the present dull and unsettled condition of both the Wool and Woolen goods markets. Good reasons can be given either for lower prices or for a continuance of present quotations. It is claimed by the advocates of the former that a further decline is inevitable on account of the unusually large stocks carried in all the large wool centers of the Country; that there has been a loss to holders on this stock of 3c to 5c per pound since last fall; that this will naturally make huyers thind and conservative, and cause the new wool to accou 1900 June and Dec 1034; 1044; 1180 June and July 109 1187 Various 27–98 Various 1104; 102 11867 June and Dec 117 1867 June and Dec 1014; 102 1890 June and Dec 1014; 102 1890 June and Dec 1014; 109 1892 Apr. and Oct. 1104; 1104; 1105

Chicago, April 9, 1 p. m.—Wheat opened strong and higher, the demand for May coming principally from shorts, who covered freely. The selling seemed to be by roomtraders and tailers, though the clique brokers are said to have unloaded some wheat around $\frac{1}{2}$c. The continued dry weather causes uneasiness and induced good buying of June, July and September, those options being in demand all day. The Government report makes the general avarage of the growing crop 88. It was $2$ last year, $0$ in 1883 and 76 in 1885. The average in the great winter wheat States and California and Oregon, however, is very high—above $3$. Spring wheat seeding is proceeding rapidly, and a large increase in the acreage is anticipated. There is still talk of a corner in May wheat, and we advise boycotting that month.

Corn duil but steady, and no feature of interest beyond a little realizing by scalpers. Provisions were lifeless.

Twenty loads of wheat were worked for export in New York to-day.

stock in all markets is still large, will be rather neglected."

Wheat—No rain having fallen and the country finally catching on to a chance to work the crop-damage racket, sending in numerous reports of serious injury or that apprehensions were felt regarding the safety of the crop, the market builed very easily this morning. California was played out as a drouth-damage-to-crops influence, as good rains and a great improvement in crop prospects were reported from that State, but Kansas came into play, just the same, and more Eastern States sent in their quota of bad advices, so that the loss of the Pacific slope was not severely felt by the buills. Chicago continued to fluxuriate in most of these. Eastern States sent in their quota of bad advices, so that the loss of the Pacific slope was not severely felt by the bulls. Chicago continued to gluxuriate; in most of these, as the manipulators there undoubtedly need a good deal of this kind of news to help them out, but there was an unusually large number of such reports received here also. While the majority of the local crowd do not believe in damage at all, or, at any rate, look upon them as greatly exaggerated, yet the strong appearance of all other markets along with the run of unfavorable reports, gave them considerable uneasiness and prevented them from selling too freely. Shorts were good buyers, too, in the face of another day's cessation from business. There were no cables to work on and all other news were scare, though the larger export clearances at new York led to the idea that the next visible decrease would be much larger than the last. The new crop options advanced most, selling 114@118c higher, but the whole market let down late and closing easy, with May 4c; June $ac, July 1c. August 1½c and September, 1½c above Thursday. Spot No. 2 red was better in price, but very dull as there was not much demand. City millers bought lightly in St. L. at 80½c and for East side 80c was bid.

Corn—The dry weather helped improve this coreal also, as did the advance in wheat, but there was little speculation and less interest taken in the market, as traders concentrated their attention principally upon the higher, but closing easy. Spot grades were firm and the moderate offerings were well taken by the order and local demand. No. 2, 33½c and C. and M., 35½c in St. L.; No. 3, 34½c 34½c in M. and bid for E. 28½c in order and the market was not belling but that its crop might be injured, if no rains fell to keep it out. Every other market was firm and there were not many sellers, but after all the gain in price was only ½c and the close was weak. Spot grades were duil, but firm

Flour was in better demand, the fact that she old rail rates were to remain in force for some time bringing in Scuthern orders and the accumulation of two days making a fairly good trade. Lead-Messrs. Everett & Post review the market for the past week as follows: "Under a limited demand from the consumers and some pressure to sell from the producers the market during the week has steadily declined to sales at $4 to East St. Louis, equal to $4.074; to $6. Louis. In a general way the manulacturers seem to have their current requirements supplied, the quantity offering happens to be in excess of what the market can absorb, and the outlook just now offers little encouragement for any improvement in values in the immediate future. The Eastern markets continue to exbibit the same extreme apathy that has prevailed for the past thirty days, values in New York being entirely nominal at $4.364

The continuance of drouth and the small supplies of this country, with the light interior movement reported, tend to keep alive the builish feeling and make firm markets. To-day New York futures closed at top rates and were then 6a? points above Thursday, and spots were quiet and 1-16c higher at 18'sec for middling. The local market was steady and there was a good demand resulting in sales of 2,288 bales. No markets came in from Liverpool, as it is closed until next Tuesday for the Easter holidays.

Fresh Texas advices indicate that the cotton crop of that State is in really bad shape, and serious damage must result unless rain soon falls.

Nearly all the 2,300 bales sold here to-day will go to Eastern spinners, which was very heavy for the time of the year and considering our small stock.

The stock is now 506,541 bales, or 293,000 bales below this time a year ago. Last week's interior movement was 18,292 bales, against 26,061 for same time iast year.

WILL Mayor FRANCIS veto the Gould terminal hill?"?

THE street-sprinkling boom is gaining the force of an avalanche.

WE are going to fight the street-sprinkling question out on this line if it takes all

REGULARLY sprinkled streets would in crease the summer business of the city 50

THE new rates for bridge transit may be acceptable to Mr. Gould, but they certainly are not acceptable to the public.

A GREAT deal of the infant mortality of the hot summer days would be averted if the streets of the city were sprinkled in a thorough and effective manner.

MR. MANSFIELD's estimate of the cost of sprinkling the improved streets of St. Louis is not too low. On the contrary, it is much higher than the actual cost.

Among the festivities announced to come off after Easter will be the eviction in Ireland of the tenants of Lord LANS DOWNE, the Governor-General of Canada

THE street railroad companies of St Louis have a fine opportunity to popular ize themselves with the citizens by joining in the movement in favor of street sprink-

SOME of the rascals who forged the fraudulent election lists have been convicted, but the gates of the penitentiary yearn for the big rascals who directed the dirty work and profited by it.

AFTER boasting that Chicago has all of her anarchists in jail, the News asks what has become of the St. Louis anarchists. We never had any. They and the bigfooted girls all belong to Chicago

Some of the depunciations of the Interstate Commerce law from the railroad managers sound very much like the depunciations of the criminal law uttered by Herr Most and the Chicago anarchists.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND dollars spent in a thorough and systematic attempt to Great Britain about treaty rights sprinkle the streets would save half the cost of the present clumsy and inefficient attempt and be worth millions of dollars

THE attention of the police authorities is respectfully called to the violation of the city ordinances by the scattering of dodgers through the down-town streets. The nuisance is a flagrant violation of the law, and is steadily increasing.

"CHICAGO has her anarchists in jail because injury inflicted on a part affects under sentence of death," says the Chi- the whole. He says that in adopting any of a new Munic cago News. Yet according to the united timony of the Chicago papers it was only last week that the Chicago anarchists were out of jail and moving on the city offices 20,000 strong. The Republican papers were pleading piteously for Democratic help to save the city from anarchy and destruction. It took a union of both parties to do it, and now the News is trying to make us believe that a few condemned murderers were the only anarchists in the city.

OFFICIAL CASUISTRY. "The State officials of Pennsylvania and nany of the Judges of the courts," says the Philadelphia Record, "ride on free 'passes, notwithstanding the provision of the State Constitution, that no rail-'road or other transportation company 'shall grant free passes." All these officials have taken an oath to "support, obey and defend the Constitution of this Comnonwealth." The statement of the Record, which is owned by one of the the wealthiest and most responsible men in Pennsylvania, is therefore a distinct charge that they are violating the law and their oaths, and if the charges were untrue they could make him pay them heavy damages for slander. But instead of taking that course they admit the truth of the statement, and justify their acceptance of the passes by the plea that the prohibition is against the "grant" of free passes by the railroads, and not against the acceptance of such gifts by any person. As the railroads could not grant them the passes if they refused to accept them, it is plain that the violation of the law by the railcoads is with their official consent and connivance. When they thus assist a railroad o violate the law, as it could not do without their consent and assistance, they certainly are violating their oaths to support obey and defend the law. Not only that, but they are accepting bribes, valuable considerations, for aiding and abetting railroads in this violation of law. This truth stands out so clear that n quibble can obscure it, and it is equally clear that both the officials and the railoads venture upon this violation of law merely because the Legislature, tarred with the same stick, has refused to attach any statutory penalty to their crime and they can commit it with impubity The railroads are perennial suitors for official, judicial and legislative favor, but in spite of official oaths against receiving 'any valuable thing for the performance or non-performance" of official duties these free-pass bribes are openly given and as openly used by the Governor, the Judges and office-holders of every grade, on the manifestly untenable plea that they are not "valuable things" and do not influence official action.

If a Judge on the bench should, from private litigant in a case pending before him, accept the value in money of an annual pass, good to carry him all over the State, would such a plea be accepted? Would it acquit a juror arraigned for ac- supplied the oft-baffled prohibitionists cepting a bribe? Would it exculpate a with a hint for a new check on the Kanvoter convicted of accepting such a sas druggists. An apparatus which 'courtesy' from a candidate at the polls? would ring an alarm bell every time the If officials cannot see any bribery in this whisky, gin or rum bottle is touched at a for hydrophobia is not only useless, but dan sort of thing, nor any crime in thus violating positive mandates of the law, so much the more reason for penalties that will compel them to obey the law.

COMMENTING on the Democratic Central lent nomination in the Nineteenth Ward. and the rebuke thereof by the election of may serve to advertise a prima donna, but CLARK OVER EGAN. the POST-DISPATCH to a Presidential aspirant all physical ailerred in its conclusion that the installation of Mr. Woodlock as Central Committeeman for the ward was also a result of the same primary fraud. From the details of the primary vote by precincts, i appears that the delegation which made Mr. WOODLOCK a Central Committeeman was evidently supported by CLARK's friends and triumphantly elected. irrespective of the plainly fraudulent returns from the Eastern precinct. Moreover it appears that instead of availing himself of the alleged vote of that precinct, Mr. Wood-LOCK, in committee, moved that it should be disregarded and that the nomination tion was tabled by the committee against his vote and protest. So it was the act of the other committeemen and not Mr. WOODLOCK'S appointment or action that was condemned by the large majority given to CLARK over EGAN by the Demo crats of the ward. We find Mr. Woop-LOCK's reputation among them is that of a pronounced opponent of all crookedness in primaries, and see no reason to doub that he will act in committee as their faithful representative, free from the dictation of any boss whatever.

THE Gloucester Fisheries' Union wrote o President CLEVELAND suggesting that the power of retaliation conferred on him by the last Congress should be used only in prohibiting Canadian fishmongers from disposing of their catch in United States ports. Their idea evidently is to resolve the pending dispute with into a little monopoly for themselves, which would punish our fish consumers more than it would the Canadians. The President's answer to this suggestion is both nest and complete, treating the matter as one involving the general welfare, and the national honor and dignity, and the interests of an immense commerce of which the fish trade is but a fraction, though entitled to special care and protection as any other special interest is, tide of immigration continually pouring in from the Old World, and the natural norease of our population without a precedent in the world's history, everybody sees that all the good farming land will soon be taken and must appreciate in value. A few years ago our national debt was three or four times the volume of our currency, which was all irredeemable paper. Mow, with midebt of only $1,700,000, 600, our currency exceeds $1,800,000,000, more than half of it gold and silver, and the output of our mines, together with the balance of trade in our favor, is constantly and rapidly increasing the stock of money on hand. The difficulty of keeping this big stock of meney out, at even a low rate of interest, is so great and there is such confidence in the appreciation of real estate, that long-time land mortgages are in great demand, and by paying 10 per cent of the purchase money down, a man can get all the land he wants and let 90 per cent of the purchase money remain on mortgage as long as he cares to pay the low rates of interest now current. Such a state of things is not only favorable to a real estate boom, but rather conducive to over-trading in land.

THE news that Know-Nothingism been revived in California and now has an organization that polls a good many thousand votes for a separate ticket is not surprising. The Chinese nuisance made California an original stronghold of Know-Nothingism and has kept its spirit in the ascendant there after its political body was buried. But California is not the only locality in which this ghost has lingered all these years. It showed itself conspicuously in the recent Chicago contest, where both the speakers and the newspapers saw a fearful public peril in "the foreign element" of the Union Labor party. One speaker at a Roche meeting was so much alarmed at the ingress of European anarchists that he advocated a denial of naturalization to every immigrant who cannot "swear that he has never been a rebel against his native government." The idea of making perfect loyalty or passive obedience to Czars, Kaisers and Kings a test of qualification for American citizenship, would have excluded the heroes of the Revolution, all the Irish that have ever come here, and a majority of the brightest and best of our foreign-born citizens of whatever nationality.

THE bright druggist of Brattleboro, Vt. who protects medicine buyers by having all his poison bottles connected with his prescription desk by electricity, so that a bell is rung every time one of them is touched by the sleepy compounder, has Kansas prescription desk should now be tried in that State, where almost every other conceivable means of "checking the flow of liquid damnation" has failed.

THE filness of BLAINE, slight though i Committee's ratification of Egan's fraudu- may be, cannot fail to have depressing influence on Blaine stock. A, timely illness ments are untimely, and the soundness of a candidate's liver is quite as important as the soundness of his political opinions.

WE trust that the members of the General Assembly of the State of Missouri are closely studying the record of the Interstate Commission. The principles which they apply are applicable also to State commerce, and the need of regulation is equally great.

"The Red Flag Did It."

Western City Elections.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The municipal elections throughout the West show that the labor party is organizing very thoroughly in towns and cities, and that its strength in municipal contests is out of all proportion to the size of the labor organiza-tions, or in the large cities of the socialistic societies, from which it has been supposed to draw its strength. Municipal corruption can politics, and it has not been confined to either party. We admit all nation from the yoke of tyranny is not far dis own household. The ratification of this new treaty on the part of the new treaty on the part of the American Government will not be such a serious blow to the growth of Nihilism in Russia as might be supposed. Nothing can stop the spread of Nihilism in Russia. The beginning of Nihilism in Russia dates from the Decemvrists revoit under Czar Nicholas. That was suppressed or put down for the time being. The next outbreak was led by Karakosoff which resulted in the killing of Czar Alexander II. Six months later Netchayeff headed another uprising and then we come

The treaty, however, is an insuit to American institutions and we cannot believe that it will be sustained by the mass of the people here. The leaders of the Nihilist party in Russia are not anxious to have an asylum open for them to retreat to in America. They are brave men and understand that their lives may be sacrificed any day. They don't care for that. They don't wish to retreat, but will push shead if only to certain death for their cause of liberty. The people of Russia have heard of the American Deciaration of Independence and it has touched a responsive chord in their breasts. That is their model. They are working to accomplish for Russia what the Revolutionary fathersidid for the United States. As I have said, the cause of liberty has taken long strides to the front lately. The significant thing about the recent attempts on the Czar's life is found in the fact that members of the artillery division of the army, and the highest circles were concerned in it. The artillery and naval officers in Russia represent the highest class of intelligence in the country, and that the infection for liberty has spread into their ranks is convincing that there must be something rotten about the present condition of the Russian Govarnment. The same unfavorable conditions prevailed in Western Missouri and Kansas. The continued dry weather made plowing difficult, seeding late, and in the localities where it was unbroken when winter set in germination was slow and the full growth small. In the great wheat States of the Central West, from Tennessee to Missouri, the seed-bed for the greater part of the area, was in favorable condition, and with local exceptions the plant made good growth before going into winter masters. On the Pacific Stope the early seeding time was stry, but rains came later and the whole breadth was put in fair condition, though bomewhat after the usual date. The covering of it now during the early portion of the winter was better than usual over a large part of the wheat area, but there are from many sections complaints of scarty protection during the very trying weather since February 15. The month of March was the most severe for a sories of years, the temperature being below the average over the whole area east of the Mississippi River, and alternate freezing and thawing wrought serious damage to bare fields, especially in bottom and poorly drained lands. Pennsylvania, Ajrignia and Ohlo suffered severely from this inclemency. The general average is 88—the same as in 1881, and higher than at the same date in 1883 and 1885, when it was 80 and 75 respectively. The April condition of last year was 92.5, which was still further improved by favorable weather during the month. The average for the principle States are: New York, 77; Pennsylvania, 70; Maryland, 82; Virginia, 79; Texas, 79; Tennessee, 94; Kentucky, 92; Ohio, 78; Michigan, Ry has withstood the unfavorable conditions better than wheat, he average condition being 92 against 96 at the same date a year ago. There will be, on the going out of the senior class, vacancies in the school which the ladies are anxious to fill as the demand for the services of experienced nurses is too great to be filled by the graduates of the school. The ladies in charge of the school also wish to have a large attendance at the exercises Tucsday night, which will be unique and interesting. All the pupils of the school will be present on the stage in their uniforms and caps. The programme includes music, an introductory address by Henry Hitchcock, an address by Dr. W. E. The society has purchased a lot on Dillon street, near Hickory, 110 feet by 127 feet, on which it is proposed to build a home. Several thousand dollars have been secured to that end, and on Tuesday night an effort will be made to interest other contributors in the project.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Denounces the Expos of the Ex-Forger. NEW YORK, April 9 .- Rev. Dr. Talmag talked of the Kissane case to people who went to hear his usual Friday evening lecture last ness of pursuit human nature may consent has Thirty-three years ago a man then called Kissane, but now called Rogers, committed great crimes. For thirty-three years he has been an honest and good citizen. After he established himself in righteousness and has around him a noble wife and worthy sons and daughters, detectives go to work and expose the sins which had for three decades been buried. For no other purposes except those of revenge and black-mail, his old, cast-off life is exhumed. The hounds are baying at him from all cities. Common fairness would say that after thirty-three years of right-doing all previous wrong-doing ought to be forgiven. If all the respectable Christian people of America were now arraigned and punished for the wrong things they did thirty-three years ago, there is hardly a social circle or a church membership that would not be rent asunder with tragedy. Many whose early life was a debauch and an abomination have afterwards gone to the front in usefulness. I say thirty-three years of honesty and righteousness ought in any fair-minded community to give a man release from all review of pass iniquities.

"But no," says human devilishness, "down with Kissane forever and kill his wife and blast his children and let the thirty years of integrity be overwhelmed by that went before."

Jean Valjean, of Victor Hugo's immortal romance was by many supposed to be an impossibility. Jean Valjean having broken the window glass of a bakery in order to get bread for seven starving children, afterwards rises to all heights of respectability and honor, ard for many years demonstrates a very nobility of character. But after nearly a lifetime has passed that early wrong gets on his track and chases him to ruin. Behold the Jean Valjean of consumer translated into real life in this last quarter of a century supposed to be Christian! And see in what heights and depths and infinities of spite, and hate and bitterness and malice and revenge and distorness and malice and revenge and depths and infinities of spite, and hate and bitterness and malice and revenge and depths and infinites of spite, and sane, but now called Rogers, committed great crimes. that they had burglarized the stationery store of John Wilson, northwest corner of Broadway and Park avenue, and had buried the plunder in a lumber yard on Second and Miller streets. He took one of the boys down there in a wagon with him and about $35 worth of cigarettes, tobacco, pocket-knives, harmonicas, chewing gum, false faces, fishing hooks and miscellaneous articles of that character was found hid under a pile of lumber. A warrant for burglary and larceny was taken out against the boys, but they can only be sent to the House of Refuge on account of their age.

The Terrible Experience of a White Mes ger and an Indian Boy in Alaska.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
San Francisco, April 9.—Alaska mails just received give the story of an act of heroism on the part of an Indian lad which has, per-haps, hardly a parallel for self-accrificing bravery and endurance. The Indians of the interior, Chilkats, although somewhat debased by contact with the whites, are of a much higher grade of intelligence and character than the Esquimanx of the coast. This boy, only 18 years of age, was selected by Tom Williams, the regular messenger from the camps about the Stewart River, some 400 miles inland, to accompany him to Juneau. The Stewart River debauches into the Great Yukon, just where the Rocky Mountain range has its beginning, Williams and the lad started with a team of two dogs and a led for Juneau, about the middle of February. They followed up the course of the Yukon past Fort Selkirk and along Lewis River without incident, until they reached Lake Labarge, 150 miles from their starting point. Here one of the dogs gave out and the other died on reaching the top of the range between Lake Labarge and the coast. They then had to drag the sled themselves with their effects. A few days further on they were overtaken by a severe snow storm. They were at a very high altitude and the coid was intense. But they struggled on bravely, and finally, in a half-frozen condition, reached what is interior, Chilkats, although somewhat deyery high altitude and the cold was intense. But they struggled on bravely, and finally, in a half-frozen condition, reached what is known as "The Stone House," which is nothing more than two large boulders, three miles below the summit of the range. Here they built themselves a snow-house and subsisted for five days without fire and food, except a little dry flour. The white man was badly frozen, and what with the sudden change from the intense cold outside to the warmth of the snow-hut, he contracted pneumonia, and was unable to help himself in the least. Of course it would fixve been easy for the lad to abandon his companion to make his way back to his people, but it appears that he stood manfully by Williams, nursing him until after six days, he was able to continue his journey. On this sixth day the half-famished travelers emerged from their snow house, leaving all their effects within, and started for Chilkroot. Williams had some covered within a few days after his arrival at Juneau that he exhibited the aveilest interest in the many new and strange things that he saw in the settlement. It was the first time he had ever been to the coast or had ever seen white men in any numbers. He had never seen a horse, and, according to the Alasks Free Press of Juneau, he "gasedwith undisguised awe upon Jimmy Shakes" coal, cart and horse." The Free Press adds that "when he passed Cato, our colored tinsmith, on the street, he stopped, looked at him and then remarked: "That man must have been badly frost bitten to come out as hisak." HOW: TO GET NOTORIETY.

The quickest way to get into notoriety is to thing very bold and unexpected, like rising in a drawing room to tell how some ostler's wife went down to London and got was all I could make out of "'Ostler Joe."
that having remained unbiled for a sufficient that having remained unbiled for a sufficient part of life she went and got biled red, and in that condition Joe came up and ate the remains of her brileiently, as one eats a biled lobster. Between astonishing an American drawing-room and becoming popular with the Prince of Wales, there seems to be no gap whatever at present. The pendulum does not go from one to the other in a more correct order than the American terrific woman goes to the Prince of Wales. Not long ago, when the American Opera Company was in this city, there was a married woman of ample accomplishments, who sang the part of "Orpheus." She sang it in the costume that "Orpheus" might have worn, or traditionally did wear, in youth, with free limbs, having a sort of hunting skirt alone. From the audience she made a magnificent appearance with her matured, almost maniy, figure, straight, large limbs, and sandals and bare arms and neck. Rumor said that some one of the many men of wealth who had made a subscription to this opera company desired the parroness of it to introduce him to the lady at her dressing to the same rumor went on to say that.

with a desire to obtain the good will of this man, the patroness took him to the lady's dressing-room, who at once asserted herself like a woman, and said that she would prefer gentlemen at the proper time and the proper dress; that for the moment she was an artist, and her dress was not reception dress. There may have been no truth in this statement, and I think that none of these theatrical rumors or stories are worth nunting down; they are generally advertising agents lies or bits of prurient scandal made up to suit a momentary appetite. But if that story was true it would appear that the Prince of Wales considers it his province as the host of the British Islands to go to the dressing-rooms of actresses, especially American girls, who are supposed to have thore character than British actresses. There was a story to the effect that Mary Anderson, who is a religious girn, fiercely excused herself from receiving gentlemen, Princes or otherwise, on request, at her workshop on the stage.

Fanny Davenport went to see Sara Bern day Sara went to see Fanny, who gave a performance especially in her honor. The performance especially in her honor. The note in which she signified her intention of being present was written on small, square paper, bordered with drab, the usual width of a mourning edge. In the same color on the envelope was stamped Sara's monogram and a device that at first glance looked like a crest, but on examination proved to be a sort of artistic trade mark composed of a savage looking masque beneath which were crossed a short Roman sword and a jester's bauble.

They immediately had the brougham stopped, and informed the coachman of the blunder (it was a hired vehicle), and, having given him a little for his own immediate comfort, they halled the first cab and drove home. Their own coachman, having waited at St. James' Hall for half an hour in valn, very wisely drove his beasts to the stables. Of course, next morning the two ladies considered it their first duty to send an explanation and apology to the "M. D. V." LATHAM SIGNS.

Latham, "the dude" third baseman, called at the office of President Von der Ahe and, after some preliminary conversation, agreed o put his signature to a Brown Stocking conract. Of course he wanted more salary than anxious to buy him they can have him by paying a fair price. If Hudson wants to play with the Browns this year he will not get a cent more than $1,000 for the year's work, and if that doesn't suit him—well, he need not play ball at all, or he will have to do it with some other team. The fact of the matter is that I'm growing tired of the trouble I've been having with my players, and I'll warrant you that I'll have no more of it. I'll teach Mr. Hudson a leeson this time, and show him that I and not he is managing the team."

The attendance yesterday, for instance, was estimated at 10,000, when the count did not show any such number. Although the stand was almost packed, the count did not show any such number. Although the stand was almost packed, the count showed that there had been 5,800 paid admissions, and the number of free tickets was certainly not sufficient to make up the difference. The attendance Thursday was not as large as it was yesterday, and although old-time estimates placed it between 7,000 and 8,000, the actual number of paid admissions Fag not over 4,500. In fact the man who took and of the gate for the Chicago club was heard to ray that the count showed less than four thousand. These figures certainly seem surprising to the observer who attempts to estimate the size of the audience by simply looking at it. The over estimates are accounted for by the fact that Sportsman's Park is currently said to hold 15,000 people, and the calculations are based on the amount of space seen to be vacant.

As has been stated previously, the receipts of the present championship games are dided at the rate of 60 per cent to the winner, and 60 per cent to the winner, and 60 per cent to the chicago by Anson. Neither resident Spalding nor Secretary Brown is sere to take care of the Chicago part of the concey. Anson appoints two players to watch he gates, and when the game is over the 40 r the 60 per cent, as the case may be, is concreted into a draught and sent on to Chicago. Inson refuses to make public the amounts has received thus far, claiming that as the slayers are not to receive a cent of it, it can consibly be of no interest to the public.

took the field. Doescher acted as umpire.

As Latham stepped to the bat he was received with cheers.

For the Brown Stockings, Latham hit to Burns, who threw to Anson, and the dude walked in crestfallen. Gleason hit prettily to right center field and reached first in safety. Five balls sent him to second and O'Neil to first. Five more advanced both a base and gave Comiskey first. At this stage of the game Weich came to the bat and cleared the bases by a superb homerun drive to the fiag pole, bringing in four runs. Foutz struck out and Caruthers went out from short to first.

For the Chicagos, Sunday's hot liner was caught by Robinson and Ryan hit safely to center. Sullivan hit to Robinson and was put out at first, and Anson's high foul was captured by Comiskey.

SECOND INNING.

For the Browns, Robinson hit a short fly which Burns gathered. Bushong took first base on balls and Latham sawed himself out. Gleason then hit an old-time home-run drive over the right-field fence, and brought Bushong in with himself, giving the Browns a lead of 6 runs. O'Neil went again to first on five balls, but was retired at second on Comiskey's hit to Burns. For the Chicagos, Pfeffer fouled out. Flint hit safe to center and went to second on Williamson's safe hit to right. Burns hit to Gleason, but the short-stop threw badly to Comiskey, allowing Flint and Williamson to score. Burns reached second on the play. Pyle struck out and Welch caught Sunday's high fly.

THIRD INNING.

Doescher, the umpire, is not light enough for an effective umpire. It is customary for modern umpires to take in the field occasionally when close decisions on base plays are necessary. Doescher, on the contrary, night be called a "dolee far niente" sort of an umpire, and takes it easy behind the bat. Hence these kicks.

OUT-SAILED. Capt. Samuels Explains How the Dauntl Was Defeated.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. Adriatic arrived at Quarantine last evening at the Health Office, the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch was permitted to board her and welcome Capt. Samuels, late of the her and welcome Capt. Samuels, late of the schooner-yacht Dauntless, who came over in her as a passenger. The captain was looking the picture of health and did not seem in the least depressed by his recent defeat by the Coronet in the ocean yacht race.

"The story of the trouble on board of the Dauntless," said he, after the first greetings had passed, "has not the least foundation. I contradicted it before leaving Cork. There was not a bit of disagreement on board. Everything was harmonious from beginning to end and my authority as captain was never questioned."

never made a passage when my rel with my associates were more pleasant." "How did Mr. Cost take nie defeast?"

"What, in this ship? oh, a beautiful passage. The contrast between this passage and the one out in the Dauntless was very marked indeed. This is a fine steamer. It is a pleasure to go to sea in such a vessel as this."
The Imman Line steamer Baitic arrived at Quarantine at 5:30 o'clock yesterday having among her passengers Capt. B. C. Andersen, who so successfully navigated

THE SCHOONER-YACHT CORONET
In the recent coean race from this port to Roche's Point, Ireland; Otto Petersen, who was the second-mate of the Coronet, and John C. Fitzgerald, who acted as second steward of the yacht. Capt. Andersen was found by the Post-DISFATCH correspondent in the companion-way leading to the main saloon. He greeted the Post-DISFATCH man in the merriest manner.

"Well now," said he, "this is cheery to be hailed by an old friend before the anchor is down. This makes me feel that I am indeed home again. Whom did you come down to see?" When assured that he was the person that the reporter wanted to talk to, Capt. Anderson expressed the utmost surprise "Why, I can tell you nothing as to the voyage of the Coronet in addition to what was sent by your correspondent, who, by the way, is one of the best fellows I was ever shipmates with. In fact all three of the newspaper men that we had were first-class fellows. That day when the yacht was hove to, they all three insisted on stopping upon deck although Capt. Crosby advised them to remain below. One of them lashed himself in the main rigging and the other made fast to the main gaff, the main senses and said:

"'Plot, when did you leave Cork?'

"'Two days ago.'

"'How have you had the weather?'

"'Foggy,'

"'Oh,"' exclaimed Mr. Whittier, 'she may be in after all, and our spirits which had been away up to the maintop went clear down into our boots and we actually were not sure that we had won the race until we were over the finish line.' It was a great passage. For the whole distance across the Atlantic we only tacked ship once and wore ship once—something very unusual indeed."

Capt. Andersen said that he should have liked to have stayed longer abroad, but that Mr. Bush had cabled him to return and report immediately to him. He should, he thought, stay a day or so at the Taylors Hotel, Jersey City, before going to his home in Philadelphia.

In desperate attempts to vindicate Ladish, the Lengue is being sacrificed. Certain parties declare publicly that Chief-Consul Rogers inaugurated the book-betting and even the current American Wheelman makes that statement. The Missouri Division, always to the front, has another distinction. It is the the only Division to lend its official sanction to book making.

to book making.

In the interview with Ladish in the Post-Disparch recently, which has been widely copied, Hendee was done an injustice. Ladish stated that Hendee would ride in the Clarks-ville road race, and was training for it. The error was not noticed till Hendee came to St. Louis, a few days later, and said he not ridden this year, didn't intend to, and hadn't seen Ladish down East.

seen Ladish down East.

Considering the fact that the League has lived very successfully all these years, with somebody stuffing himself with the League's money, it is not very clear why any special fund is needed now to carry it on, unless the fund-makers want it to appear that Bassett is following in the steps of his predecessor. If those who like a converted sinner are now howling for others to help the League had not gone over to the enemy last year, their appeals now would have nothing suspicious about them.

would have nothing suspicious about them.

In a table showing comparative records, which is now going the rounds of the cycling press, the foot-note is added: "The bicycle record is from a standing start." This is the clearest acknowledgment of the fact that a standing start is slower than a flying, and, that being so, that a bicycle race as now run is not a test of how fast two men can ride between given points, but how quickly they can ride after being pushed off. That is, that at least twenty or more feet of the course are traversed, not by the rider's propelling force, but by the force communicated by the starter.

The Missouris' De Soto trip was taken last the rider's propelling force, but by the force communicated by the starter.

The Missouris' De Soto trip was taken last Sunday successfully by the following riders: Greenwood, Hildebrand, Percy Stone, Brewster, Prof. Stone, Wylie, Klipstein, Williamson, Parkhurst, Gordon, Suda, Hawkins, Holm, Tivy, Mehlig, Berger, Alex Lewis, Frohman, Taylor. They left De Soto at 8:30 a. m. and reached St. Louis, forty-five miles away, at 8 p. m. The slow time made was due to the spring tenderness of the party and the presence of some tender-feet. The famous Jefferson County hills were climbed and coasted without special incident or accident. Cupid Baker and Floyd-Jones rode down, a ride ten times as hard on account of the fearful south wind they had to face. The road was found to be in elegant condition. Prof. Stone acted as the commander and did well.

Remarkable Cure of Lumbago.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 13, 1886. For nearly six years I suffered greatly with what the doctors called lumbago. I was unable to walk in that interval more than a few steps at a time, or to rise from a chair after once sitting do n, without assistance. A friend urged me to give ALLCOCK's POROUS PLASTERS a trial, a d he went and got some for me and put them on my back. I felt easier with them on than anything I had ever tried, and continued their use for nearly three months, changing them every week, until I was absolutely cured—cured so that from that day to this, nearly six months, I have been able to work.
